Dear Vendor:

As many of you know, the Department of Defense is repositioning from transactional purchases towards more supply chain management processes to support our customers. Several months ago, you may have received a letter describing the teaming relationship between the Defense Logistics Agency (DLA), Tank Automotive and Armament Command (TACOM), and AM General (AMG) in support of the HMMWV RECAP Program. In an effort to ensure our Small Business community understands this initiative, its goals, and to ensure that Small Businesses continue to support the HMMWV RECAP Program, we have scheduled an Industry Day.

This Industry Day will be held on November 3, 2005, at the Defense Supply Center Columbus (<http://www.dsc.dla.mil/>) in Columbus, Ohio. It will address the overall HMMWV RECAP/Customer Pay concept with AMG and provide direction to small businesses on supporting this effort and for qualifying as sources of supply to AMG. This concept capitalizes on the strengths of AMG and the Government to improve the supply chain process while increasing both supply availability and parts reliability. Under this teaming relationship, the Government will continue to provide the majority of spare parts support. AMG will provide technical, engineering, and logistical services incorporating integrated supply chain management practices and interactive technology, and also spare parts support on many items. This teaming relationship will increase business opportunities for those items which will be provided through the DLA Supply Chain. It should also increase subcontracting opportunities with AMG who will be required to achieve challenging subcontracting goals.

Additional information regarding this acquisition is posted on the DSCC Web Site, http://www.dsc.dla.mil/offices/land/hmmwv\_recap.html. This web site also provides an e-mail link if you have additional questions.

In addition to the Industry Day, there will be a breakout session from 1:00 to 3:00 for vendors to sit down and talk one on one on acquisition, small business, and quality/tech issues for HMMWV Recap only. If you would like to attend this Industry Day, please RSVP by October 24, 2005, using the e-mail address: DSCC.HMMWV.RECAP@dla.mil.

Sincerely,
