The USNC/IECQ

Who are we?

- USNC/IECQ

- A standing committee of the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) and the U.S. National Committee of the International Electrotechnical Commission (USNC/IEC)

- ECC Corporation

- Is a nonprofit trade association and a member of ANSI and the USNC
- Serves as the USNC/IECQ Secretariat and the US Member Body of the IEC IECQ

- International IECQ

- Provides IECQ provides visibility and independent verification that electronic components and related materials and processes, including those below the user's level of specification in the supply chain, are compliant to appropriate standards, specifications or other documents.

Where do we fit in the International Scheme of Standards Development and Conformity Assessment Certification?

IEC Standards and Conformity Assessment lie at the heart of the global trading system as defined by the WTO (World Trade Organization) in its TBT (Technical Barriers to Trade) Agreement. Under that agreement, WTO member countries look to IEC International Standards and Conformity Assessment activities as the basis for their national voluntary standards, mandatory technical regulations and conformity assessment practices.

- Counterfeit Avoidance Mark Alliance Repository Management System

The screenshot shows the website interface for the Counterfeit Avoidance Mark Alliance Repository Management System. At the top, there is a navigation bar with a login form (Username, Password, Login, Cancel) and a date (Tuesday, October 30, 2012). Below the navigation bar is a main menu with links for Home, About Us, Alliances, Membership, Events, Repository, and Contact. The main content area features a large blue banner with the headline "Supply Chain Made Up Of Counterfeit Parts" and a video player showing a man speaking. Below the banner is a call to action: "We welcome your interest in joining our organization. For membership information and application please follow the link." with an "APPLY HERE" button. The footer contains three columns: "Our Mission" (with a lightbulb icon), "Message from Our Chairman" (with a green leaf icon), and "Search" (with a search bar). The "Latest News" section shows an upcoming webinar on October 25.
